Sheriff Woolson returned Sunday
from Columbus, bringing with him
John O'Leary wanted here on a charge of grand larceny. It is alleged that he stole $70 from his companion,
Paul Peck.

O'Leary and Peck came to Mt. Vernon last week from Cincinnati. Both are cooks and obtained employment in local restaurants. On last Friday the men went to Utica and filled up considerably with drinks, it is alleged, and in the evening Peck claims that O'Leary stole $70 from him. Saturday night O'Leary left the city for Columbus and Sheriff Woolson telegraphed a description of the man to the Columbus police department and asked that he be apprehended. On Saturday night Columbus detectives arrested O'Leary at the Union station where he was waiting for his sweetheart. Sheriff Woolson went to Columbus and brought O'Leary back on Sunday and placed him in the Knox county jail. The warrant for O'Leary's arrest was sworn out in the court of Mayor Perrine.

On Monday afternoon Peck appeared before Mayor Perrine and withdrew the affidavit charging O'Leary with grand larceny. The costs were paid by Peck and O'Leary was released from the county jail.

TIN-CANNED

Was Knox County Republican
By Willis Administration

Here's the way James W. Faulkner tells in Sunday's Cincinnati Enquirer of the manner in which J. H. Tilton, a Knox county man, whose home is in Brown township, and a loyal Republican, was tin-canned by the Willis administration:

When J. H. Tilton, the mountainous person who has been head clerk of the State Highway Department, was called before his chief this week and had a tin can attached to his coat tail, he felt much like the man who found the wasp in his pocket—surprised, shocked and grieved. "Tilt" last year, although holding office under a treasonable Democratic administration, was truly loyal to the cause of good government, Mister Willis and the old flag. While others aided and comforted the rebels he stood by the Union men, although it cost him sneers and gibes. After the rookus was over he quite naturally figured that he would be decorated with the iron cross and given an advance in pay. As indicated, it was a tin can they decorated him with, and instead of the increase his salary disappeared in toto and likewise altogether.

His job was handed to Homer Hastings, some time Representative from Noble County, a member of the minority in the Eightieth General Assembly, who was on hand at 8 a. m. the next day to fit himself into "Tilt's" chair. The worst of the situation is that divers and sundry gents who are employed in the State Highway Department are telling the big fellow that "Virtue is its own reward" and the "Doing of a worthy deed is its own recompense." Although a graduate in trigonometry and integral calculus, he cannot figure out, for the life of him, how it came to pass that he, a Republican and a good one, got the bloody ax while the blade passed over several Democrats and Bull Mice. It wouldn't take very much to make a real insurgent of him after he gets used to the noise of the clattering tin can. And who'd blame him?

KISSED

The Juvenile Officer On Each
Cheek For Finding His Son

Not being familiar with the customs of the Austrians, Juvenile Officer Purcell was subjected to considerable embarrassment at the Pennsylvania station on Saturday afternoon. Just as the 2:03 train was about to pull out, Michael Slavkovsky stepped up and kissed the juvenile officer on each cheek. It was Juvenile Officer Purcell who found Slavkovsky's young son, Edward, who ran away from his home in Braddock, Pa., and it was the Austrian custom of showing appreciation for an act of kindness. Mr. Purcell stated that he had seen this custom in the moving pictures, but had never had the experience of being one of the real actors.
